Research

The quest for a safe, natural preparation to help the body resolve haemorrhoidal issues was begun in 2006 by two highly respected physicians at the Israpharm Clinic in Israel.

The research confirmed that most haemorrhoidal discomfort and inflammation is caused by bacteria and faecal acids and toxins, so work was begun to develop a gel to act as a protecting barrier based upon extracts from the aloe plant.

After 15 months of clinical trials involving over 200 patients presenting all stages of the condition, a formulation was achieved that greatly exceeded expectations, offering a strong lasting analgesic effect (up to 5 hours), despite the formula containing no analgesics! The researchers named their product “Presto Gel” because its effect was so rapid.
